LONGISH (300+ WORDS)

Publishers Weekly bestselling author, Jenna Kernan, writes domestic thrillers and fast-paced psychological thrillers described by readers as “jaw-dropping,” “riveting,” “gritty,” and “gripping.” She received a 2021 Silver Falchion award nomination from Killer Nashville and is a 2021 bronze medal winner in the Florida Book Awards Popular Fiction category for her debut thriller, A Killer's Daughter and took the gold in the same category in 2022 for The Ex-wives.

Jenna's gripping crime thrillers, A Killer's Daughter and The Hunted Girls, feature an FBI profiler, and daughter of an infamous female serial killer, facing a series of murders in Florida. Her domestic thrillers include The Adoption, introducing a happy couple whose lives turn into a nightmare when dark secrets and a menacing woman threaten their new baby. Her 2022 release, The Ex-Wives, features a young mother who discovers her new husband is the FBI's number one suspect for the disappearance of two girls. And her 2023 and 2024 releases, The Nurse and The Patient's Daughter, each broke Amazon's Top 100 in the domestic thrillers category.

Born in Cooperstown and raised in the Leatherstocking region of Upstate New York, Jenna is a genre-jumper with roots in romantic suspense and has written more than forty-five books. She worked in the public schools for over thirty years, where she wrote on her lunch breaks, summer breaks and occasionally during faculty meetings.

Jenna is a member of numerous writing groups, including International Thriller Writers, Mystery Writers of America, Sisters in Crime, Florida Mystery Writers, Gulf Coast Sisters in Crime, Authors Guild, and Novelists, Inc. She frequently attends conferences, including MurderCon, Bouchercon, Sleuthfest, and ThrillerCon.
